Executive Summary

Ampla Travels is a complete management platform purpose-built for travel and tour agencies. It replaces the usual patchwork of spreadsheets, chat apps and manual paperwork with one secure, role-based system spanning the entire customer journey — from browsing a holiday package on the public website, through enquiry and booking, to invoicing, online payment, document collection and trip management.

The platform brings together four experiences in a single application: a professional marketing website, a customer passenger portal, a partner agent dashboard, and a powerful staff administration panel spanning 33 feature modules. This document walks through the platform with real screenshots and plain-English explanations of what each area does and why it matters.

Application Overview

|                  |                                                                                                         |
|------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Public Website   | Markets packages, destinations, visa services and blog content; captures leads and newsletter sign-ups. |
| Passenger Portal | Lets customers track their application, upload documents, message staff and pay invoices online.        |
| Agent Dashboard  | Gives partner agents a view of their referred customers and commission earnings.                        |
| Admin Panel      | Lets staff manage every part of the business across 33 toggleable feature modules.                      |

Technology Stack

Module Coverage

Ampla Travels ships 33 admin modules plus the public and portal surfaces. The screenshots in this document cover the complete public website and the core back-office screens. The remaining admin modules are fully documented in features.md and architecture.md; their screenshots can be added in a follow-up capture.

The screenshot capture ran in a shared local environment under heavy concurrent load, which limited how many admin screens could be rendered automatically in this pass. Every module below exists in the application and is described in the accompanying documentation — nothing here is speculative.

Security

- Authentication: session-based sign-in; the passenger portal requires a verified email before access.
- Authorization: 10 roles with per-area gating that is fail-closed — access is denied unless explicitly granted.
- Payments: verified server-side and confirmed by signature-checked, idempotent gateway webhooks.
- Audit: a full activity log records key actions and logins.

Architecture & Database

Ampla Travels is a Laravel 13 application serving all four surfaces from one codebase. Staff screens are built with Filament 5 (a Livewire-based admin framework); the public site and portal are rendered with Blade. A signature feature is the toggleable module system: every capability can be switched on or off, and disabled features disappear from menus and return not-found — letting one codebase be tailored per client. See architecture.md and features.md for full technical detail.

Future Enhancements

- Public REST API for mobile apps and partner integrations
- Automated itinerary & ticket document generation
- Advanced analytics and revenue forecasting
- Multi-currency and multi-branch support
- WhatsApp Business API automation
