A Modern Front Door. A Complete Back Office.

How a Lagos law firm brought its public website, its clients and its case work together into one platform.

Valour Chambers | Barristers & Solicitors, Lagos

Meet Valour Chambers

A full-service law firm in Lagos, Nigeria, advising individuals, businesses and institutions across commercial, criminal, litigation, education, family and insurance matters.

"Access to justice is a right, not a privilege."

More Than a Brochure Site

A respected firm needs a digital presence it can control, and a way to keep clients informed without adding to the team's workload.

01

A static shop window

A website that cannot be updated in-house quickly falls out of date.

02

Clients left in the dark

Case updates, documents and invoices travelling by phone call and email thread.

03

Work spread across tools

Matters, deadlines, tasks and billing living in separate places.

04

Manual follow-up

Enquiries and consultation requests relying on someone remembering to chase them.

What the Firm Needed

Four goals shaped every decision on the project, from the public website through to the back office.

A credible digital presence

A professional public site that reflects the standing of the chambers.

Content the firm controls

Every page editable in-house, without waiting on a developer.

A private channel for clients

Somewhere clients can follow their own matters securely, at any time.

One place to run the practice

Cases, deadlines, tasks and billing together under a single roof.

One Platform, Three Layers

Senux designed and built a single web platform where the website, the client relationship and the day-to-day case work all draw on the same information.

01

The public website

A fully content-managed site covering practice areas, attorneys, case results, insights, careers and contact.

02

The client portal

A private, secure area where each client sees only their own cases, documents, appointments and invoices.

03

The management platform

The firm's internal workspace for clients, matters, tasks, documents, billing and reporting.

What We Built

Six capabilities that carry the firm from first enquiry through to a settled invoice.

Content management

Every page, image and section edited in-house — no code required.

Secure client portal

Clients follow their own cases, documents and invoices in one place.

Case & matter management

References, teams, notes, court dates and deadlines on one record.

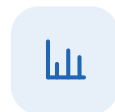

Consultations & enquiries

Website requests captured, assigned and tracked through to completion.

Invoicing & billing

Line-item invoices, recorded payments and outstanding balances at a glance.

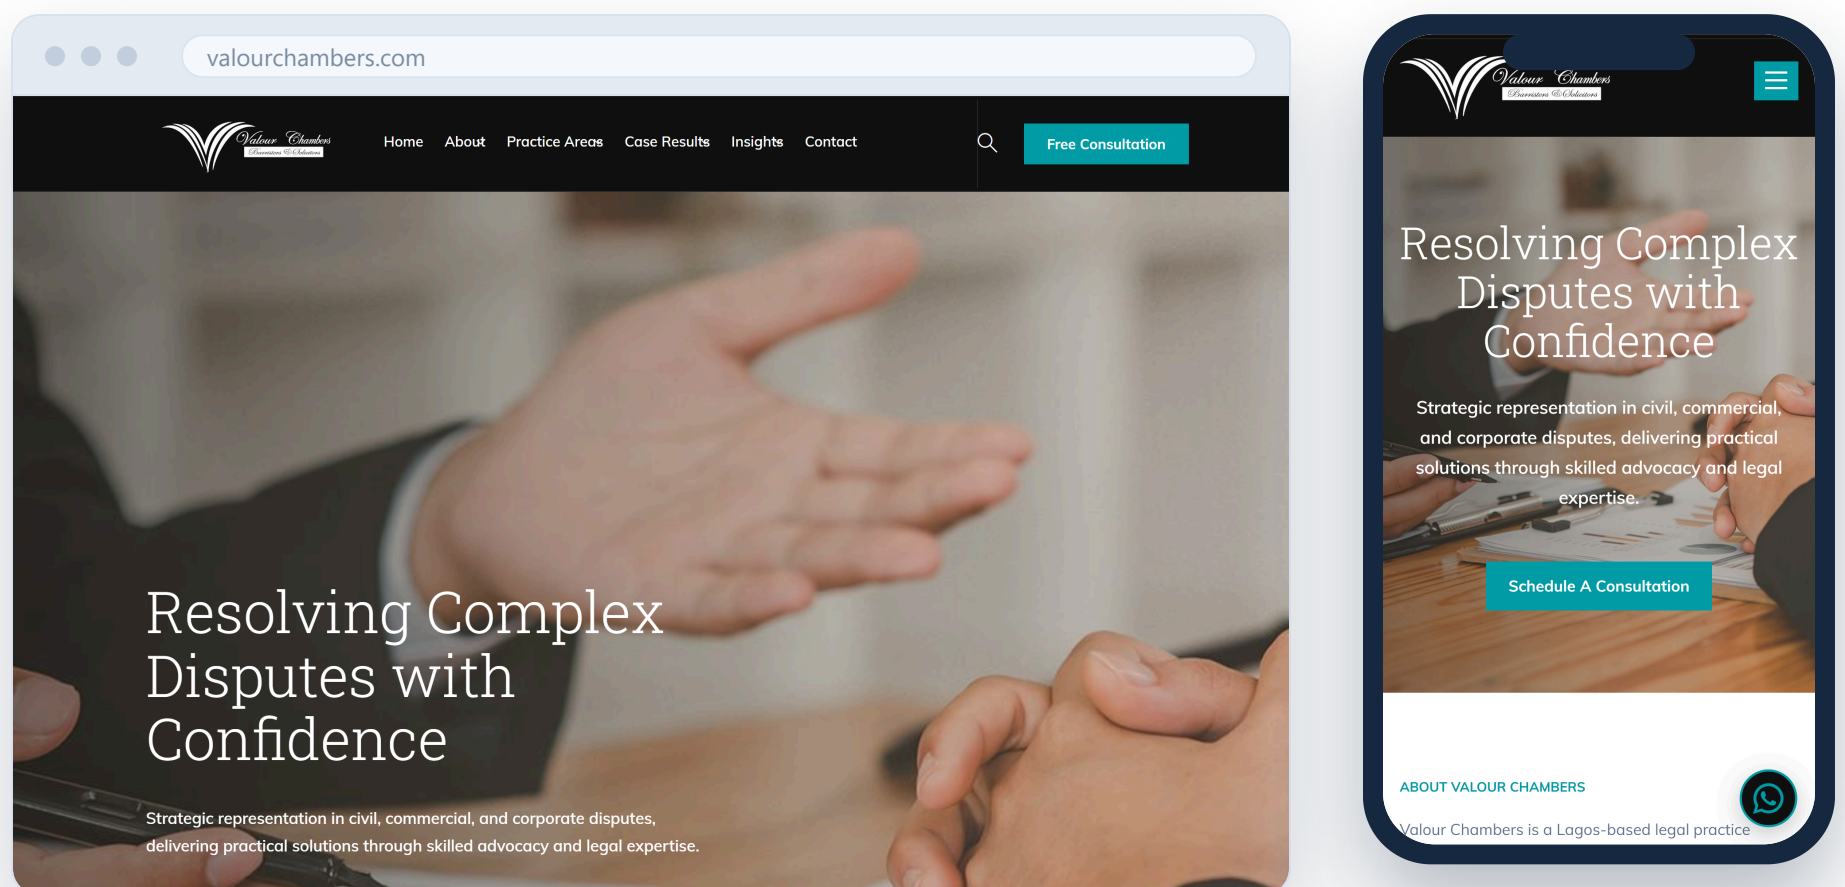

Reporting & exports

Filtered summaries, workload views and spreadsheet exports for the accountants.

Designed Around the Client

Every public page moves a visitor from interest to enquiry — and reads just as well on a phone as it does on a desktop.

— VALUE DELIVERED

One platform, not three

Website, clients and case work on shared foundations.

Independence from developers

The firm updates its own content, whenever it needs to.

A better client relationship

Clients can check on their matter whenever they want.

Central operational visibility

Cases, deadlines and billing in a single dashboard.

Less manual chasing

Automated rules and acknowledgements handle the routine work.

Built to grow

Branches, teams and permissions already in place.

No performance figures are published here. Measurable outcomes were not available at the time of writing.

Built for Growth. Designed for Impact.
